

Global Network of Psychologists for Human Rights (GNPHR)
Guidelines for the Advisory Council of the GNPHR

General

- To support the mission of the GNPHR.
- To contribute to the aims of the GNPHR.
- To provide advice, content-related expertise and broad geographically diverse input.

Purpose and role of the Advisory Council:

- To provide content-related expertise and broad geographically diverse input for the GNPHR network website.
- To provide solicited and unsolicited advice to the Steering Committee
- To promote the GNPHR through media and professional contacts.
- To find ways to attract subscribers.

Accountability of the Advisory Board:

- To respond to requests for review, advise and information
- To draw attention to ethical issues or human rights issues within the purview of the intersection of psychology and human rights.

Composition of the Advisory Board:

Psychologists and others who are involved with and interested in the contribution of psychology and allied fields to addressing human rights issues, including prevention, treatment, education, and public action.

Especially welcome are

- members of the International Council of Psychologists,
- members of the EFPA Board Human Rights and Psychology.

Review:

These guidelines will be reviewed annually. Next review date January 2021.